RE: Merge A.B. Italian with A.B. Romance Languages

Last year the A.B. in Italian/Italian Studies was identified as a low-producing major. The Department of Romance Languages would like to terminate the A.B. in Italian/ Italian Studies and merge it with the existing A.B. Romance Languages as a new area of emphasis. No aspect of the degree or course requirements will change.

The minor in Italian will remain as it is.

OUTLINE FOR DEACTIVATION OR TERMINATION OF A GRADUATE OR UNDERGRADUATE DEGREE PROGRAM

I. Basic Information

1. Institution: University of Georgia Date: 2/5/2016
2. School/College: Franklin College of Arts and Sciences
3. Department/Division: Romance Languages
4. Program
Degree: A.B.
Major: Italian
5. Deactivation _____ or Termination X
6. Last date students will be admitted to this program: May 15, 2016
7. Last date students will graduate from this program: (To be determined)
8. Abstract of the deactivated or terminated program

The A.B. in Italian was identified as a low-producing major. As described below, we will not be terminating the actual degree, only renaming it.

The A.B. in Italian will be terminated as such but will be combined with the already existing A.B. in Romance Languages as one of the areas of concentration offered. We currently offer an A.B. in Romance Languages where students can concentrate on Portuguese or a combination of any of the Romance Languages taught in the department (French, Italian, Portuguese, and Spanish). As a low enrolling program, the termination of the A.B. in Italian and its combination with the A.B. in Romance Languages will ensure that we can continue to offer an undergraduate degree in the Italian language, literature, and culture. Students currently enrolled in the program will continue with the same plan of study and be expected to fulfill the same requirements. Thus, the combining of the Italian (A.B.) with the Romance Language (A.B.) will not affect either the currently enrolled students in the program nor the faculty and staff involved in the program. The termination of the Italian (A.B.) and its combining with the Romance Language (A.B.) will only serve to strengthen all of the programs in the department. Graduates of the program will be eligible to apply to the M.A. in Romance Languages with a concentration in Italian.
