Dear Dr. Beckstead,

The College of Agricultural and Environmental Sciences (CAES) Graduate Affairs Committee recently considered a proposal from the Department of Animal and Dairy Science. The Animal and Dairy Science Department formerly had three master-level degrees. They were a Master of Science in Animal Science, a Master of Science in Dairy Science, and a Master of Animal and Dairy Science. The Department wants to now have one master-level degree termed a Master of Science in Animal and Dairy Science. This degree would have a thesis and non-thesis option.

The CAES Graduate Affairs Committee recently voted on this proposal and the voting results were as follows:

Yes, approve: 11 votes
No, do not approve: 0 votes
Needs discussion: 0 votes

Based on these results, we recommend moving the proposal forward to your committee. Thanks so much for your service and assistance with this!

Sincerely yours,

Chair, CAES Graduate Affairs Committee
NAME CHANGE JUSTIFICATION FORM

School/College Name: College of Agricultural and Environmental Sciences

Department Name: Animal and Dairy Science

JUSTIFICATION:

The Animal and Dairy Science Department currently has three master’s-level degree programs. They are a Master of Science with a major in Animal Science, a Master of Science with a major in Dairy Science, and a Master of Animal and Dairy Science. The Department wants to now have one master’s-level degree termed a Master of Science with a major in Animal and Dairy Science.

Currently, the Master of Science with a major in Animal Science and the Master of Science with a major in Dairy Science require a thesis. The Master of Animal and Dairy Science is a non-thesis program. With the merging of these majors, the proposed program will have thesis and non-thesis options.

The change is being made at the direction of the University and College to combine low degree majors where possible to ensure that M.S. degrees have a three-year average of five graduates.

If approved, the major in Animal Science (M.S.) and the major in Dairy Science (M.S.) will be terminated. (See attached proposals)
